5 CENTS RAISE AVERTS STRIKE ON RAILROADS

500,000 Non-Operating Men Avoided by Increase; Brotherhoods Still Fighting

400,000 VOTE WALKOUT

Demand 20 Per Cent Wage Rise Parley Scheduled in Chicago Aug 11

By The Associated Press
CLEVELAND Aug 5—Threats of a strike of more than a million railroad employes diminished today as a 5 cents an hour wage increase announced in Washington paved the way for peace between the nation's railroads and 400,000 non-operating employes whose ratification was expected to be a formality.

Approval of the railroads' offer was the vote of 350,000 of the 400,000 operating brotherhood members, who were facing a strike to enforce demands for 20 per cent wage increases.

Settlement of the dispute with the operating brotherhoods such as engineers, firemen, conductors, trainmen, shopmen was announced by the national mediation board. These 14 crafts authorized the walkout last week. A strike if their demands were rejected.

Had Asked For More

Alexander Heyer of the board said the unions represented an increase demand of 6½ to 8½ per cent. The non-operating employes like the operating employes had demanded 20 per cent increases.

Final decision of the operating brotherhoods on the demands will be held in Chicago Aug 11 at a conference between the brotherhoods and a committee representing the nation's railroads. The conference was postponed today.

After Chicago parley breaks up, strikes are compulsory before the 400,000 operating railroaders — engineers and firemen — can be called.

The board has been attempting to bring about a settlement in accordance with the railway labor act. The board can propose arbitration if he finds either side rejects arbitration. A presidentially appointed fact finding board must study the case and make a report before the men can strike.

Ballot Three Weeks

The operating railroaders' demands were authorized three months ago. Three weeks ago balloting started on whether to grant strike power to officers. After seven days of tabulation the result was announced here yesterday.

Ninety-six per cent of the five brotherhoods' members said David B. Robertson president of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers and Firemen voted for a strike to support their pay demands.

The other four organizations represented included the Brotherhoods of Railway Trainmen, Locomotive Engineers Switchmen and Railway Conductors.

Increase Here May Be $3,200 a Month

Payroll increases amounting to an estimated $3,200 a month spread among 400 Marion railroad workers are expected to result from the 5 cent pay boost announced today in Washington.

Railroad officials said no definite information about the increase or its effect has been received here. The figures used in calculating the possible effect here are based on estimates.

DUFFY HOLDS SENATE PROBES ARE ILLEGAL

Liquor Commission Lacks Authority To Quiz Civil Service Officials

By The Associated Press
COLUMBUS O Aug 5—Attorney General Bert S Duffy held today that a senate committee lacked authority to investigate the state civil service commission and liquor control and highway departments.

Duffy ruled specifically on the senate inquiry into the civil service commission. He declared however that it also applied to the other proposed investigations. The senate authorized the inquiry during a special legislative session called by Gov Martin L. Davey for enactment of a biennial appropriations bill.

Duffy said that, since the governor has no authority to authorize the investigations they were not constitutional. Under statute the governor may specify the business to be considered at a special session.

Referring to the civil service commission the attorney general said that the senate could have investigated the commissions' needs before passing the appropriations bill.

After passage of the bill he added the senate was "powerless to conduct any other investigation and that the resolution relates to certain matters, such as conducting hearings for the purpose of determining what revisions, amendments or changes of the laws may be necessary to effect savings of public funds such resolution was to the extent wholly unauthorized and completely void."

NEW HARMONY FEAST PLANNED

Senate Democrats Invite Roosevelt and Garner To Get Together

WANT TO HEAL WOUNDS

Some Fear Reprisals as Result of Opposition to New Deal Measures

By The Associated Press
WASHINGTON Aug 5 Democratic Senators will get together next week around a banquet table in an informal attempt to restore party harmony shattered by the court reorganization dispute and the wage-hour bill.

They invited President Roosevelt and Vice President Garner to be their guests at a stag dinner. It was arranged by a committee representing both sides in the recent court fight.

Senators describing the party as spontaneous said they hoped the President can attend and will speak. He is expected to reply to the invitation in a day or two.

Garner who was active in bringing about the truce that resulted in shelving the court bill was chosen to preside. The only Democrat not invited was Sen Hattie Caraway of Arkansas.

"I never yet have gone to a stag party" she commented.

McKellar Chairman

Sen McKellar of Tennessee is chairman of the affair and Sen Lee of Oklahoma is secretary. Other committee members are Moore of New Jersey Truman of Missouri and Burke of Nebraska a leader of the court bill foes.

The dinner outwardly a tribute to the new majority leader Sen Barkley of Kentucky is the second love feast of congressional Democrats this summer.

All Democrats in the senate and house were invited late in June to a series of picnics on Jefferson island in Chesapeake bay. President Roosevelt and cabinet members also were present.

Although those who attended said there was little serious discussion of legislative problems several expressed the belief party ranks had been bound more closely together.

Fight Reaches Climax

The climax of the court fight however developed shortly after ward. When it had been settled some southern Democrats revolted against the wage-hour bill. It was approved 56 to 28.

Besides the differences of opinion on those issues some senators have expressed concern over the possibility of reprisals against those who opposed the court reorganization program.

Democratic Chairman James A Farley however told an audience last night at Akron O., that such talk is "a piece of moonshine."

This administration is concerned with bringing back and perpetuating prosperity he said. It has no time for vendettas."

New Farm Law Demands Snag Plans to Adjourn

House Members Consider Blocking Major Bills Until Agricultural Plan Is Brought Forward

By The Associated Press
WASHINGTON Aug 5—Weary congressmen started their eighth month of work today with much of the session's most important measures still awaiting consideration.

Leaders however hoped to dispose of most of them and wind up the long session within two or three weeks.

The chief threat to this objective appeared to be a growing demand for enactment of general farm legislation. In the house there was talk of blocking some of the administration's most vital measures until an agricultural bill was brought forward.

Aim at Wage Bill

This proposal was directed primarily at the wage and hour bill a key to adjournment the senate passed it Saturday and a revised version was approved by the house labor committee yesterday. No authorization for its consideration on the house floor however had been granted by the rules committee.

The senate was marking another milestone today. It was exactly six months ago that President Roosevelt proposed his controversial court reorganization bill.

It was possible the senate would observe the anniversary by taking up the new lower court procedure bill which was substituted for the rejected Roosevelt measure. Leaders agree to debate it as soon as the Wagner housing bill was passed.

Those two measures and the wage hour bill constituted the bulk of the remaining program outlined by administration chieftains. Also on the tentative schedule were bills dealing with sugar quotas crop insurance tax loopholes and deficiency appropriations.

Big Bills Still Pending

In many respects the pending legislation was of far greater significance than that enacted during the first seven months of the session.

Most of the legislation enacted has been of a routine nature—the regular appropriation bills and extensions of previous laws.

In new permanent legislation the outstanding measures have been the permanent neutrality law the Guffey coal regulation law and the farm tenancy program.

Others were the bills for voluntary retirement of supreme court justices at 70 years the acceptance of the Mellon art gallery a permanent but old bill and a new railroad retirement law.

Extensions included some major laws such as the RFC the President's monetary powers the reciprocal trade law soil conservation benefits PWA $850,000,000 of nuisance taxes and the three-cent postal rate and the law providing a three and one-half per cent interest rate on farm loans.

The farm loan law was enacted over a veto by President Roosevelt.

Besides routine bills appropriating about $5,000,000,000 congress enacted a deficiency relief bill carrying $950,000,000 for the balance of the last fiscal year and a relief bill appropriating $1,500,000,000 for this fiscal year.

PLYMOUTH FACTORY CLOSED AFTER FIGHT

Parley Resumed in Dispute Over Reinstatement of Four Following Scrap

By The Associated Press
DETROIT Aug 5—The Chrysler Corporation's Plymouth plant remained closed today pending a settlement of differences which led to fighting between rival unions yesterday in which 10 men were injured and a riot call for police.

Only a few men appeared for work this morning. The gates were not opened and from a United Automobile Workers sound truck, circling the plant, came instructions for men to return to their homes.

Conferences between representatives of the UAWA and the management, which adjourned at 9 o'clock last night, were resumed today. The UAWA demanded the reinstatement of four men discharged for alleged participation in an attack yesterday noon on two officials of the Independent Association of Chrysler Employes, whose claims of 26,000 members are disputed by the United Automobile Workers.

Richard T. Frankensteen, organization director for the UAWA said there "probably will be no work" today.

ABOARD COAST GUARD CUTTER ARGO OFF NEWPORT R I Aug 5—Harold S Vanderbilt's Ranger heading for her fourth and deciding victory over T O M Sopwith's American cup challenger Endeavour II today at the second mark in today's race set a 30-mile triangular course sailing the blue bullet Bristol Bay by about three-quarters of a mile.

Ranger lifted around the mark at approximately 1:44 p m and set off on the speculative 10-mile broad reach for home on a course north by west one half west.

Endeavour rounded the mark at approximately 1:55 p m.

Cuts Rangers Lead

The grand lead cut Ranger off at the conclusion of the first triangular test on which she established a record but appeared to be engaged in a close stern chase.

The second leg marked the first time Endeavour has crossed Ranger on any leg during the series that began last Saturday. The British sloop however was at a disadvantage from the start when Skipper Smith jumped over the line ahead of the starting signal and while Vanderbilt was getting away some eight lengths in front had to come about and start anew.

This gave Vanderbilt who needs only today's race to complete his successful trophy defense an extra-special initial advantage. The Ranger was well on her way before Endeavour could start again.

Ranger reached the first mark

SECOND WOMAN HERE VICTIM OF RACKET

State Securities Division Reports Resident Fleeced of Whisky Receipts

The state securities division today was investigating the case of the second Marion woman to be defrauded recently in an exchange of whisky receipts according to a news report from Columbus.

Publication of a news article last week telling of methods used by two men to defraud a Marion woman of approximately $500 by exchanging forged whisky receipts for genuine ones led the second Marion woman to discover the forgery.

According to descriptions of the men who made the exchanges apparently the same pair made transactions with both Marion women on the same days a checkup showed.

In the second case uncovered here the men exchanged forged receipts for 16 barrels of whiskey for eight genuine ones. The amount of money involved was not learned.

The same racket is reported to have been worked in other communities, especially in northern Ohio according to reports here. The securities commission has asked all persons who have had recent transactions where the same practice might have been used to furnish the commission with the details.

Child in Orphanage Pending Settlement of Dispute With Regan Mrs Nelson

By The Associated Press
CHICAGO Aug 5 Mr and Mrs Harold Nelson today began legal moves to win permanent custody of the dark-haired boy they cherish as their own since infancy and who was taken from them Tuesday in what is to first be eyed to be a kidnaping.

The 3½-year-old Donald was being cared for at St Vincent's orphanage pending settlement of the dispute between the Nelsons and the Hearst newspaper which was their source of information that the boy was illegitimate.

Donald was surrendered by Assistant States Attorney W J Conley yesterday by the attorneys Dan Regan and Lydia Nelson who said they had entrusted the boy to the Hearsts at Edith Rockefeller's request because of lack of money. Conley said the Hearsts admitted this was true.

The grandfather said it was unlikely any charges would be filed against any one but there was a possibility that Ewert accused of driving the car in which Donald was taken from the Hearst home might be questioned if found. Donald Ewert missing since the time of the snatching had a criminal record.

Time for Donald will be taken here playing with all his toys by Mrs Hearst until Sheriff Emil Hilpert decides where the child will start legal proceedings to regain the child.

The boy appeared to enjoy his new surroundings but mention of mama started him crying. He sniffed in his crib until he fell asleep last night.

While not showing any animosity toward the Hearsts Miss Nelson 25 year old common law wife of the machinist indicated she would fight for the child.

"My heart aches. Mrs Hearst told her I want that child. Won't you give him to me? We'll take care of him.

"I had a lot of heartaches myself" Miss Nelson replied. "Here my child and I'm entitled to him.

"We can take better care of him" suggested Mrs Hearst whose husband is part owner of a sound equipment manufacturing concern.

"Well I built you've done pretty well for him" Regan replied.

As Donald was being taken to the orphanage Miss Nelson cried "I'm your mama! I'm your mama."

The boy began to sob but then threw his arms around her and kissed her. Then he kissed Mrs Hearst.

Want Net Surplus Figured as Part of Gross Income of American Owners

By The Associated Press
WASHINGTON Aug 5 A ways and means committee today recommended drastic increases in domestic personal holding company taxes as one means of preventing tax avoidance.

The committee proposed from actions at this session a $100,000,000 eight point program of legislation to plug the tax leaks also recommended an imputation in the taxation of foreign personal holding companies.

It suggested that authorities should be figured on the gross income of the American owners of the companies just as if it actually had been distributed to them.

See $100,000,000 Revenue

Treasury officials who met at 4 with the joint committee in making an investigation which brought it the names of many prominent citizens estimated roughly that enactment of the committee's recommendations would mean an increase of $100,000,000 in federal revenues.

In addition to the domestic and foreign personal holding company proposals the committee recommended stiffer tax treatment for the following methods used by wealthy persons to reduce their taxes: Incorporated yachts and country estate incorporation of personal talents (such as acting) artificial deductions for interest and business expense multi trusts non resident aliens and artificial deductions for losses from sales or exchanges of property.

The committee report to the house and senate followed an investigation extending over several weeks and undertaken at the request of President Roosevelt. The President said in a message to congress that a comparatively small number of wealthy persons was reducing tax payments by methods

CHILD'S BIRTH WAITS ITS MOTHER'S DEATH

Doctors Give Up Hope for Woman Suffering Tuberculosis Meningitis.

By The Associated Press
PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 5—Physicians at the Philadelphia General hospital stood by today waiting for Mrs Mary Boccassini to die so they may deliver an expected baby.

Mrs Boccassini, 27, is suffering from tuberculosis meningitis for which they said there is no cure.

The doctors told the husband, Dominick, of the situation and that they would perform an operation as soon as death came to the mother, to save the child. They hoped the baby would arrive before the mother passed away.

The husband objected, telling the doctors that if the wife must die to let the baby go with her.

The physicians sought legal advice and the matter was taken before Judge Harry E Kalodner. He decided that when the time comes the operation can be performed. "Even an unborn babe has its rights," he said.

Motorized Japanese Army Moves Northward to Halt Chinese Advance Behind Great Wall.

CHIANG MEETS AIDS

U. S. Missionaries Fearful of Having Their Work Halted by Nippon Force Holding North China.

By The Associated Press
SHANGHAI Aug 5 United States consular offices in all China urged the whole American community to guard their lives and if necessary help with Chinese forces if non-essentials today were ordered withdrawn.

"We will fight to the death."

By nightfall the municipality declared war brought there to encampments.

3 Columns of motorized Japanese troops moved northward from behind Chinese advance forces from behind China's Great Wall.

2 Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek China's strong man leader of the central government flew to Nanking to tell the Japanese chief of staff that China will resist the Japanese advance even though it means fighting immediately prepared and to the death.

Fear for Missionaries

3 American missionaries recalling frantic Japanese conquests feared Japanese domination of north China would wipe out missionary activities education work representing millions of dollars in American investments and years of the hardest toil.

4 Consul Gen Clarence Gauss at Shanghai directed formation of an American residents emergency committee to safeguard lives of 4,000 Americans. Three similar committees were started by the 2,000 Americans in Chefoo and Antwerp Tientsin and by officials elsewhere.

5 Gen Chiang met with his ministers and army commanders in emergency session at Nanking after his flight to Kuling.

6 In Tokyo the Japanese war minister told parliament he is preparing further punitive measures against Chinese and warned the Japanese diet to be prepared for an emergency session to provide additional funds.

Head for Pass

Auto mobiles carried Japanese troops through Peiping to the north and along hilly roads toward heavily fortified Chinese positions at Nankow pass. The Japanese reported their warplanes were bombing Chinese troops near Kalgan to halt all advance into Hopeh.

As the columns moved through Peiping two American photographers were beaten over the head and jailed to prevent them from taking pictures. They were Sherman Lahneteck 21 year old New Yorker and Benny Powell news reel cameraman.

Two other columns marched steadily closer to central government troops south of the ancient dragon capital.

Gen Chiang's declaration before China's educators reiterated his stand of two weeks ago when he told them China was prepared to face the worst in the north China hostilities with Japan.

Says People Determined

The strong man acknowledged overwhelming handicaps in the struggle but declared Nanking was swamped with nation wide indications of a determination to resist further Japanese encroachment.

He said the "spontaneous response" indicated a unified China stood behind the government's position, from which there is no turning back."

The government has plans he said, which "I believe will enable us to strike effectively when the time to show our hand has arrived."

American missions in north China which missionaries feared might be obliterated if the crisis spreads are those of Catholic, Methodist, Presbyterian and Adventist churches and the American board of missions.

In what was the last registered trapshoot prior to the Grand American at Vandalia, Marion and other shooters tied for top honors yesterday in competition sponsored by the Marion Gun club at its grounds on Edison pike. Charles Bogart of Sandusky led the contestants in the 100-target, 16-yard event, cracking 98 of the birds. H. A. Lauer of Prospect and C. H. Sears of Harpster were tied for second place both blasting away 97 of the 100 targets.

M. L. Vogt of Tiffin broke 50 straight in the 16-yard event but did not compete in the full 100.

Two others, L. H. Case of Sycamore and B. Saxbee of Mechanicsburg, shooting at only 50 targets, marked up scores of 49 each. G. F. Dominy of Marion and M. L. Many of the Marion trapshoot enthusiasts plan to be among the clay gun artists who will meet at Vandalia late this month for the annual Grand American championships. Plans for an exhibition of target shooting at the gun club grounds Sept. 2 were announced yesterday. Ad Topperwein, nationally known target expert will appear at the club on that date, it was announced yesterday.

IT'S ODD
But It's Science

WASHINGTON — In war-time guessing there is protection against tuberculosis, according to George E. Miller in the Chemical Warfare Bulletin.

He quotes the surgeon general of the U. S. report of 1920 that the tuberculosis rate among 70,222 gassed in 1918 was 2.46 per cent.

The same year the rate was 3.59 among those serving in France but not gassed. The next year among the non-gassed Americans in France the tuberculosis rate was 4.39 per thousand soldiers.

He thinks this indicates a "positive preventive effect." He adds that 20 milligrams of mustard gas absorbed quickly into the human system will kill a man. But that in the war there was one death for each ton and a half of mustard gas.

Mrs. H. E. Williamson of Warren, wife of a former pastor of the Oakland church, will be one of the camp pastors.

This year marks the fiftieth anniversary of the camp on the present grounds near Mt. Vernon and a special program will observe the jubilee year.

ASSOCIATED PRESS BUILDS MIDGET WIREPHOTO SETS

Machine Fully Tested, Will Be Placed in Operation Immediately; Control Bay Eliminated.

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, Aug. 5 — Development of a wirephoto receiving set 40 inches high—about the size of a radio cabinet—was announced today by The Associated Press.

The newest technical step forward in the science of transmitting pictures by wire, it was conceived and built by Associated Press technicians under the direction of W. J. McCambridge, assistant general manager, and H. M. Bixle, chief engineer.

The machine has been fully tested and will be put into operation immediately, McCambridge said.

He pictured the new receiver as a development comparable to the introduction more than a year ago, of the portable wirephoto transmitter, which doubled Associated Press picture coverage by wire at the time. Twenty-eight portables are now used in the nation.

Like the portable transmitter, the receiver will operate on any telephone circuit and on any available electric current.

The radical design of the receiver makes possible its small size and the elimination of the "control bay."

McCambridge said that quality of pictures received in tests compares favorably with the regular wirephotos received on the large stationary machines—with certain advantages in favor of the smaller machine.

Pictures as large as a full page or a double truck when needed may be delivered under the new setup to member papers participating.

The time consumed in transmission of any picture when the rearrangement is effected will be eight minutes. Scanning lines are imperceptible to the eye even in the largest double page pictures.

The new receiver doubles the field of wirephoto, since it may be installed in cities connected with the wirephoto network through telephone call operation.

It took eight months of intensive experimentation to produce the novel picture receiver. Its creators said that the largest picture laboratory in the country made an examination of the pictures produced and pronounced them superior in tone quality and in tone numbers to the present system.

No synchronization is necessary between stations, the individual driving mechanisms being sufficiently constant in speed to make that unnecessary. How constant that speed must be is understood when it is explained that in the transmission of a picture the tiny beam of light travels a total of 12,000 inches over the surface of the picture and ends up within a sixty-fourth if an inch or less of the pre-determined end point. This fine degree of accuracy is achieved by controlling the driving motors with a vibrating tuning fork which does not vary its frequency or pitch by more than one ten-millionth of the rate of speed desired.

More than 70 members of The Associated Press now use wirephoto and nearly every member benefits from the speed of moving pictures by wires through the telemat service, which services newspaper with news picture mats made from wirephoto pictures.

ATHLETE'S FOOT AND RINGWORM

Do you want extravagant selling "claims" or voluntarily submitted "proofs"? Mr. George Doerge, 13433 Detroit Ave., Lakewood, Ohio, writes:

Your Health

BY DR. R. S. COPELAND

Psoriasis.

FEW OTHER ailments are more disturbing than to suffer from some chronic inflammation of the skin. There is a disease which produces dry patches or crust-like white or silvery gray scales of the skin. It is a particularly annoying condition. I refer to what is known as "psoriasis."

Psoriasis is always a chronic inflammation, often confused with eczema. Unlike eczema, it rarely itches and has no watery discharge from the sore spots.

If the scale is removed, it reveals a smooth, shiny red surface. The area contains many spots of deeper red color, which bleed easily when touched.

The disease is not a physically disabling one, but it is embarrassing, because it gives the skin the appearance of being dirty and greasy. So distressed are they that many victims of this affliction avoid even their intimate friends. They may actually shut themselves away from society because of the inferiority complex that develops. One who has had no contact with these cases can appreciate the mental distress caused by these unsightly skin blemishes.

For years little was known about the actual cause of this disease. As a result of this, slight progress could be made in its treatment and cure. Although the actual cause is still unknown, many theories have been advanced. Such factors as diet, the lack of certain vitamins, the state of the general health, and possibly some disturbance of the glands, are believed to play parts in the disease.

Those who have psoriasis are advised to include in the diet food rich in vitamins, especially vitamins A and D. Fat foods should be decreased in amount, or entirely omitted from the diet. By following these simple rules, many stubborn cases of psoriasis have speedily cleared.

Of course, no definite rule can be laid down as to the medical treatment of psoriasis. Each case requires individual prescribing. But, fortunately, improvement is likely to follow change of diet, as well as the avoidance of certain unhygienic habits. Let your doctor advise you.

I have found little virtue in the indiscriminate use of salves and ointments, which are some times recommended for psoriasis. Use only the local applications which are prescribed by your doctor. He is familiar with the texture of your skin and knows what to avoid.

Dr. Copeland is glad to answer inquiries from readers who send an addressed, stamped envelope with their questions. Address all letters to Dr. Copeland in care of this newspaper.

2 SHEEP KILLING DOGS ARE CAUGHT

Two sheep killing dogs, surprised on the Fletcher farm about two miles north of Prospect on Route 4, were caught yesterday and one of them shot after a four-hour pursuit through the southern part of the county. The chase was made by County Dog Warden Elmer Ullom and a worker on the Fletcher farm.

The dogs had done $14 damage, injuring a ewe and a lamb so severely they had to be killed, and had attacked a second flock on the farm before Mr. Ullom arrived. Starting at 8 a. m. the two men drove up and down roads throughout the vicinity, finally locating the two dogs at about noon on a farm less than two miles from the scene of the attack.

One of the dogs was killed on the spot and the other was impounded by Mr. Ullom.

BIRTH CONTROL CLINICS CLOSE

State League Halts Work Following Raids by Police.

By The Associated Press

BOSTON, Mass., Aug. 5—Branch offices of the Birth Control league in Massachusetts, beset by police raids, today prepared to discontinue operations on recommendation of the league's executive board.

Mrs. Dudley D. Hawkridge, a social worker and president of the league, said the executive board, "because of its complete confidence in the quality of the work," decided to recommend to mothers' health offices, branch clinics of the league, that they close pending a court decision.

Eight Offices Suspend

The offices, she said, were located in Worcester, Springfield, New Bedford and Fitchburg. Police already have closed offices in Salem, Brookline and Boston.

Expressing "regret that so many persons confused birth control with abortion," Mrs. Hawkridge said the league's offices "never accepted pregnant patients." She asserted recent raids would "hamper the league not only in its fight against the abortion evil but also in its crusade against widespread traffic in hostile contraceptives."

Thirty-five per cent of the Brookline mothers' health office patients, she said, were referred by recognized social agencies and 46 per cent by leading hospitals in greater Boston.

Physician Waits Trial

Meanwhile Dr. Ilea Galleani, fashionable Back Bay woman's physician, awaited trial on a charge of "unlawfully exhibiting and offering for sale drugs medicine and instruments intended to prevent conception."

Arrested in a raid on a Brookline clinic, Dr. Galleani pleaded innocent in Brookline district court and was released in $500 bond for a hearing Aug. 19. At that time, the court said, it would decide whether articles seized in the raid should be returned to the league or retained by police.

MRS. TURNER RITES HELD HERE TODAY

Pallbearers for the funeral service for Mrs. Alice Amy Turner, 74, of 420 South State street, which was conducted this afternoon at 4 o'clock at the home, were James Cooper, A. J. R. Foster, John H. Bartram, Dr. L. L. Roebuck, James H. Smith and Louis Dennig. Mrs. Turner died suddenly Tuesday at the home of a sister in Elyria after a heart attack.

Rev. Howard L. Olewiler, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, officiated. The body was placed in the Marion cemetery vault, awaiting the arrival of Miss Abbie Turner of Aspinwall, Pa., a daughter, who sailed home from England yesterday. Burial will be made later in the family lot.

Prisoner's Sketch of Christ Kept in Vacant Cell

By The Associated Press

ST. LOUIS, Aug. 5—A light burns day and night, illuminating a figure of the crucified Christ, in a vacant cell—the "holy cell"—at St. Louis police headquarters.

The cell has been kept empty and the light burning for five years, since an unknown prisoner whiled away weary hours sketching on the buff steel wall.

With either pencil of crayon, he drew a figure of Christ on the cross, complete except for the right arm. St. Louis artists who have seen the work have praised it highly.

A guard discovered the sketch when he noticed a prisoner kneeling in prayer. Questioned, the prisoner said he had not made the drawing and all attempts since to learn the identity of the artist have failed.

Joseph Gerk, then chief of police and now retired, ordered the cell kept vacant and installed the light which illuminates the sketch. The eight bunks, the steel walls and the porcelain wash stand in the room are kept spotless. Visitors are allowed to inspect the picture.

How the artist was able to produce the shadings and the high gloss on the drawing remains as much a puzzle as his identity.

THURSDAY, - - - AUGUST 5, 1937

Credit.

It's good to know that on last Sunday Henri Petain, great soldier of the World war, marshal of France and savior of the Allied cause in the confused days of 1917 and 1918, wept as he stood before a granite shaft glorifying the death of 123,000 American doughboys on the Meuse-Argonne plains.

Choked with emotion, he gave the United States full credit for turning the tide of the World war against Germany after Russia's collapse had shattered allied morale.

A little more courteous generosity like Marshal Petain's and a lot less niggardly second guessing like some of Great Britain's arm chair warriors have done at America's expense might have prevented citizens of this country from being so positive the World war was a sucker game at their expense.

Certainly it would have forestalled some of the present confusion about a neutrality policy for the United States, whose inhabitants are trying to restrain their government with laws from playing a second time the part of fat boy for the loan and hungry statesmen who seemingly roam at will and at large over the continent of Europe.

Spoiling a Good Vacation.

Youngsters will consider it a mean grownup trick to spoil the pleasures of their vacation but there remains an inescapable duty to suggest that this is the time of year to check up on the health of the children and see that they are ready to take up their school work a month hence.

The normal child is a mechanism that seems to function pretty well without much tinkering but there are some who need adjusting.

Some need glasses, some should have the ministrations of a dentist, others should give up their tonsils or have other juvenile defects corrected. The time to do this is during the summer vacation when it will cause no interference with school work.

Many thoughtful parents have a complete physical examination made of their children every August. At the grave risk of losing the esteem of the juvenile population of the community, the suggestion is made that other parents make this the occasion for a complete physical checkup on their children.

Buoy Oh Buoy!

There's something goofy about America's interest in yacht racing. A population whose marine knowledge has been picked up over washtubs and in bathtubs can't really enjoy the zig-zag maneuvers of the boats sailed by Mr. Sopwith and Mr. Vanderbilt.

No, the explanation has something to do with the public's curiosity about the foibles of the very rich. Mr. Sopwith's bulging pocketbook is more interesting than his spinnaker. Writers and commentators covering the event, keen fellows, are aware of that.

The races, as they describe them, become part of the social problem of distributing wealth. Mr. Sopwith will spend a cool million; Mr. Vanderbilt will spend at least half that much. Members of the crew get $20 a day when they work, $40 if their boat wins. Boat builders, sail makers, workmen and seamen are making a living because two men of wealth happen to be interested in sailboats.

The thing for the wealth distributors to do, it would seem, is to get more men interested in sailboats. It seems rather simple, doesn't it?

Please, Ladies.

In Spain, more during the early months of the civil war than now, women bore arms and inflicted death in their own right as defenders of the government.

In Russia, under a communist dictatorship, women proudly exercise their right to do the dirty, hard jobs once reserved for men. Russian women, presumably, would take their places in trenches in case of war.

In China, nervously treading on the brink of a major war with Japan, Mme. Chiang Kai-shek, herself secretary general of the government's air forces, is calling on women to fight the Japanese "according to their ability."

In the United States, women are everlastingly insistent on equality of rights. Amelia Earhart once predicted that women aviators would fly combat planes in another war.

Few men now living are prepared to consider this matter, except against a jarring background of traditional belief that fighting is a man's duty, performed when the occasion arises for the defense of his country, his home and his women folk.

Please, ladies, what's a man going to use for incentive when you've gained the right to do his work, including his fighting?

Worth Watching.

There's not as much worrying as there was for a while over what men would do with their spare time under a 40-hour week but in case some one hasn't learned yet how to keep busy here's something that's recommended.

Head into the country and drive till you see a cloud of chaff some where close to a barn. Turn into the lane, park the car and get out. If you can find some one who's not too busy, get acquainted and tell him you've brought your family out to see a threshing.

See how the sheaves are brought to the separator. Ask the foreman of the threshing gang how the separator works. Watch the man on the blower build a round stack of straw. See the grain come pouring out.

Pay particular attention to the cooperation. In most cases, farmers still "trade off" with each other at threshing time, helping each other for a day so that no one has to hire extra hands. Watch the threshers eat. The farmer's wife is having a busy day, too.

When it's all over, your family will begin to understand why you really mean it when you say some times that you wish you were back on the farm again where a 40-hour week in harvest time would be about long enough to last from a bright Monday morning to a misty Tuesday evening.

Now They Are Economic Angels

BY DAVID LAWRENCE
Copyright, 1937, by The Marion Star

WASHINGTON, Aug. 5—They may be "economic royalists" when President Roosevelt needs campaign ammunition for speeches, but they apparently are "economic angels" when money is needed to pay campaign bills.

Undeterred by the criticism of the "racket" whereby the federal corrupt practices act was violated in the sale of the Democratic campaign book to corporations, there now has arisen another enterprise for the purpose of paying the Democratic party's bills in the forthcoming congressional election. The corporations of the nation are already being solicited with that object frankly admitted.

Many corporation executives have just received a letter written on stationery, the latter head of which reads "The Democratic Register, official organ of the Democratic national congressional committee, room 146, House of Representatives office building, Washington, D. C."

The communication reads as follows:

"We take the opportunity of writing this letter in order to explain to you about 'The Democratic Register' and to express our desire to see your organization amply represented in this exceptional medium.

"This publication, which is the official organ of this committee of the 75th congress, will have a circulation of more than 200,000 copies, each of which will be personally mailed by the 435 congressmen and sent to influential business men and industrial captains throughout the nation.

"The Register comes as an answer to the requests, received here on Capitol hill, from the country's business leaders for a comprehensive catalogue of governmental departments and their functions, the biography and photographs of every congressman, excerpts from the congressional directory, which coupled with exceptionally fine articles written by cabinet members regarding their departments.

"We cannot hope to obtain our campaign fund from special interests and must rely upon some such plan as this to supplement aid we had hoped to obtain from another source. Every dollar of the net proceeds derived from the publication of the Register goes into this fund and is utilized for no other purpose.

"It is significant to note that the Register is becoming a gigantic technical survey of the nation's industry by virtue of the vast amount of representative advertising carried and in the face of the administration's vast construction program which is definitely increasing the individual business of those organizations recognized by industry and governmental departments.

"We have asked our representative to call on you in the very near future and trust that you give him your order."

It will be noted that, not content to speak on behalf of the Democrats in congress, this circular letter boldly ventures to speak on behalf of the Republicans, too, for it promises that the book is to be circulated by 435 congressmen, which is the total membership of the house of representatives.

The reference to the fact that the "administration's vast constructional program" is definitely increasing the "individual business of those organizations recognized by the government departments" is a significant one and leads to the impression that the persons who have government contracts ought to "kick in" with a little of their profit to the Democratic congressional campaign fund.

It is not clear from the letter how the sponsors of the project can promise 200,000 circulation, since the copies are certainly not likely to be bought in large quantities by all members of congress. They would have to buy 460 copies apiece to fulfill the program.

Likewise, the letter indicates clearly that much of the information is to be taken bodily from the congressional director, which already contains biographies of members of congress, and short descriptions of the functions of government departments, commissions and bureaus.

Just why a campaign solicitation office is opened in the building of the house of representatives itself and contributions are solicited directly from corporations, who are forbidden under the federal corrupt practices act to make any contributions to political campaigns, might ordinarily be interesting to inquire about through the department of justice. But since nothing has happened with respect to the actual solicitation of contributions on the Democratic campaign book of 1936, the chances are the Democratic chieftains figure they can be assured of immunity from prosecution for doing the same thing over again.

Corporation executives, as individuals, may make contributions to the campaign fund either by buying books or by direct gifts. But it is a violation of the statute to solicit any campaign contribution from a corporation. In the case of the Democratic Register, the purpose to which the funds are to be put, namely to "obtain our campaign fund," is plainly confessed on its face.

Representative Bert Snell, Republican leader, has received copies of the new solicitation letter, but since the Democrats have squelched committee action on his resolution of inquiry with respect to the 1936 campaign book put out by the Democratic national committee, he is not expecting that any attention will be paid by Democratic congressional leaders to this new enterprise. As a matter of fact, it isn't a subject for congressional inquiry at all, but for United States attorneys, who represent the law enforcement branch of the government of the United States and whose duty it is to prosecute all offenders, rich or poor, Democrats or Republicans, who violate the laws of the land.

Doughboy Shrines

BY JEAN MARIENNE
International Illustrated News Writer

PARIS, Aug. 5—Dedication this month of three memorials erected under auspices of the American Battle Monuments commission increase to nearly 50 the number of shrines on French soil in honor of American heroes or historical incidents.

Five war memorials have been completed and are being dedicated this month and next, commemorating the victories and contributions of United States to the Allied victory. Most important of these is at Montfaucon, marking the participation of more than 1,000,000 Americans in the Meuse-Argonne offensive, the largest single engagement in American military history. The Montfaucon memorial, designed by John Russell Pope, New York architect, has a Doric shaft as the central motif, rising to a height of 175 feet on the style of the classic Trajan column built in honor of th triumphant Roman legions.

Other Shrines

Another memorial commemorates the service of American forces which cooperated with the British in breaking the Hindenburg line in September of 1918. This is near Belleau and was designed by Dr. Paul Cret, Philadelphia architect. Chateau Thierry, the spot where the American forces stopped the German advance on Paris in July of 1918, is another shrine. A fourth is located at the Flanders Field American cemetery near Waereghem, Belgium, and a fifth at Toute, France.

These comprise the shrines already completed and which are being dedicated this month and next under auspices of the commission headed by Gen. John J. Pershing.

There are numerous other World war memorials of individual Americans or commemorating American services in the conflict. Symbolic figures of the American doughboy have been erected at Chaumont, former headquarters of the A. E. F. and at Saint Nazaire, once the base port of the A. E. F.

Washington Heads List

In Paris an impressive monument dedicated to the American volunteers who fought in the Allied ranks is designed around the central figures of Alan Seeger, who wrote "Rendezvous With Death", and Quentin Roosevelt, son of "Teddy" Roosevelt, who crashed to his death near Chateau Thierry.

American most honored by France is George Washington to whom three memorials have been erected, two in Paris and a third in Versailles. Other "greats" of early United States' history whom France has recognized include John Paul Jones, naval hero; Benjamin Franklin, once ambassador to France, and Thomas Jefferson.

Nor have the arts and sciences been neglected so far as recognition is concerned. Henry Wadsworth Longfellow, beloved poet; St. Gaudens, noted American sculptor, and Wilbur Wright, aviation pioneer who did his first flying in France, have shrines to their memory on French soil.

Back a Long Time

A FEW paragraphs in the news report recently recorded the $130 a month pension granted Harry Parker, Negro, by the house of representatives. There's a story behind the story.

In 1888, an Ohio representative named William McKinley gave Harry Parker a job as doorman for the ways and means committee. For 48 years no one else has held that job.

Harry—"Old Harry" now—was the last Negro child born at Mt. Vernon. He thinks he must have been about 9 years old when he hiked to Washington 63 years ago. He started to shine shoes in the corridors of the capitol. Before long, he was on the government payroll. Then came Rep. McKinley and the job.

Half a century later, lacking two years, he was to have a great experience. Sitting in the gallery of the house of representatives he was to hear Rep. Lindsay Warren of N. Carolina make this speech.

"Now Harry is tired. The old man is weary. His feet hurt him.

"You have to come from my section to know what it means when an old colored man's feet hurt him.

"He came to me this morning, and said, 'Boss, if you gennelmen do this fo' me, what in the worl' am I goin' do when this job is taken from me?'

"I said, 'Harry, you just hang around here the rest of your life. You're just as much a part of the Capitol as the dome.'"

Then the members stood and cheered, and voted to pay Harry Parker $130 a month as a pension for life by a vote of 340-to-0. Chairman Robert L. Doughton of North Carolina, of the ways and means committee, praised Harry, and Rep. Allen T. Treadway, Republican of Massachusetts, lauded him as a "faithful—not servant—but friend" to all house members.

It is history that the ways and means committee room is located on the corner of the intersecting corridors of the house floor simply because old Harry wanted to be where he could "see the people." He had been unhappy when the committee was on the street floor.

He is very religious and firm in his faith that the great men of the ways and means committee who have died are even now "sitting around a big table up yonder, with their feets on the table, waitin' fo' me to come up and serve them."

He has but one deep secret. That is his recipe for the pineapple-orangeades he serves committee members during the hot weather hearings. He may pass this secret on now, though.

Gen. Philip H. Sheridan is frequently mentioned with Generals Sherman and Grant as one of the three great federal commanders of the Civil war from Ohio. Although Sherman and Grant were natives of Ohio, Sheridan was born at Albany, N. Y., but came to Ohio at an early age.

Perhaps the most thrilling and best known incident of Sheridan's career was his 20-mile ride to turn the tide of defeat into victory for the Union army at Winchester, Va. In 1853 he succeeded General Sherman as general-in-chief of the United States army. He died Aug. 5, 1888.

Jokers in The Wage Bill

By WALTER LIPPMANN

NEW YORK, Aug. 5—Nothing like the attention it deserves has been given to the fundamental principle of the wages bill.

Its underlying theory is that an industry operating in a part of the country where money wages are high has some kind of right to invoke the power of the federal government to protect it from competitors who operate in a region where money wages are lower. In the guise of regulating interstate commerce the federal government is to assume the obligation of preventing the products of the low-wage competitors from being sold nationally.

No one can say, of course, how much this power will actually be used. That is left to the board. And the board will therefore become the storm center of sectional rivalries and grievances, and the meeting place of pressure groups. Presumably, the board would begin modestly, and would attempt to deal only with the obvious cases of local exploitation and sweating, avoiding the difficult cases arising out of really serious differences of wage levels in various parts of the country.

But while prudence, political resistance, and the unmanageable complexity of the task, may make the measure rather inconsequential, the important thing is that this is a beginning, like a first venture into tariff portection, of a radically new thing in American life. It is the adoption of the principle that the richer regions of the country may use the federal power against the rising industrialism of the poorer regions of the country.

Hitherto, the use of the power to exclude goods from interstate commerce has been governed by a wholly different theory. The goods have been excluded because they were generally injurious and in order to protect all the people against them. But in this new venture we arrive at what amounts to the protection of one region against another region, and the acceptance of the principle that the manufacturers of a region where wages are low because of deep-seated economic causes may be penalized to the advantage of the manufacturers in more favored regions.

This is a very dangerous principle. For it will call into existence a wholly new collection of lobbyists and pressure groups seeking to persuade the board to grant them some sort of regional advantage. We know from the history of tariffs—and this thing is fundamentally an internal tariff law—that once the protective tariff principle takes root, more and more special interests come to the seat of government clamoring for more and more special privileges.

The minimum wage fixed under this bill may be fairly low; once under way, as in any tariff or in any subsidy or in any system of legal privileges, the whole pressure of politics will be to raise it. Feel the active interests behind this bill are the established industries in the richer sections of the country. And the real purpose of the measure, whether or not some of its sponsors realize it, is to obstruct competition from the new industrial south.

As a measure for raising real wages in the south it is a grim joke. For while here and there one can no doubt find southern manufacturers who could easily be made to pay higher wages, it is reasonably certain that the great bulk of southern industry enjoys no excessive profits. If this law really does what its northern sponsors mean to have it do, it will in effect prevent the cheaper but less efficient labor of many southerners from competing in national markets. This labor will either become unemployed or will be forced back into those local industries, trades, and services which are not under federal regulation.

Now, the really impoverished labor of the south is just there on the marginal lands and in local jobs—entirely beyond the reach of this new federal board. It will not be helped by the new law, and, in fact, it will be hurt in so far as the law prevents any considerable number of southerners from earning their living in interstate commerce.

The south has been the victim these many years of the foreign tariffs established by the northern Republicans. It will be the irony of ironies if the Democratic party now adds to the tariff which discriminates so heavily against southern agriculture, an internal tariff disguised as a law against sweating, which discriminates against the rise of southern industry.

"Pitch Men" Are Busy Fellows

BY O. O. McINTYRE

NEW YORK, Aug. 5—There has always been a fascination for me about pitch men who hawk novelties from their little valises on tripods along the curbs. They are beaver like in their industry, working from early to late, although their rewards are comparatively slight.

They are the last of the types O. Henry called "gentle grafters," birds of passage and always on the wing, knowing Canal street in New Orleans as well as Market in San Francisco and the library wall, which is their greatest rendezvous, on 42nd street in New York.

The Billboard is their Bible and there is a column especially devoted to their roamings in every issue. The pitch men run to type, but do not roam in packs. They go it alone and are somehow always able to survive every depression and other economic upsets. Each is a ringer for Ned Sparks in glumness.

Their clothes are mostly blue serge and they are the last of the cigaret smokers who roll their whiffs in yellow papers. Most of them talk out of the side of the mouth in cynical phrasing—but seldom are they ever involved in the petty crimes of the rolling stones.

Too, there is indefinable glamour for many of us who keep our noses to the grindstone—to scramble a metaphor—to keep the pot boiling, in those Als, Tede and Jacks with the belted coats, rakish hats and voluminously pleated pantaloons who hang about dance halls, night clubs and flash cafes. They live handsomely in the ornate style of Broadway — occupying suites in the nearby garish hotels, breakfasting at 2 p. m. at Lindy's and slipping into dinner jackets at sun down. They are good companions, too, buy a drink when their turn and talk freely about everything save the source of income. Not even intimates are hep to that—although there are suspicionings they are a trifle on the gigolo side.

Older New Yorkers still refer to the triangular mid-town plot as Longacre Square — despite the official name of Times Square, but both names may soon be in discard if a rousing new movement now achieves. Since a statue to Father Duffy, the fighting priest, was unveiled in the area, there has been a growing demand the name be Duffy Square.

CCC Food Bill 50 Million

Quartermaster Corps Makes Estimate for 1938.

BY ALLEN DIBBLE
United Press Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Aug. 5 — The Civilian Conservation Corps will have a $50,000,000 food bill during the 1938 fiscal year, the quartermaster corps of the army has estimated.

Railroads, trucks and in some cases pack animals are resorted to in solving the problem of keeping a constant supply of food moving into the camps.

Some of the camps, which now number nearly 2,000, are located at high elevations in densely wooded, almost inaccessible areas far from hard-surfaced roads. Also in many instances camps are located in sections remote from the supply facilities regularly maintained by the army in each of the nine corps areas.

Nearly half of the rations of CCC enrollees are perishable supplies, such as meat, poultry products, fresh vegetables, butter, fats, eggs, which are purchased locally.

Eggs From Million Chickens

The daily production by 1,000,000 chickens is required to keep the CCC enrollees supplied with eggs, the quartermaster corps estimates. Approximately 844,000 hogs will be slaughtered during the year to provide bacon and lard. Pork for the camps will come from 1,000,000 hogs.

The daily milk output of 14,600 cows will be used for fresh milk and the daily output from an additional 4,260 cows will be used for evaporated milk.

Farmers will dig 101,076 tons of potatoes for the unlucky enrollee on mess duty to peel. The enrollees will pour syrup produced from 1,764 acres of maple groves and cane patches over their wheat cakes.

Beans From 4,680 Acres

Cultivation of 4,680 acres of beans will be necessary to provide CCC camps throughout the year. The daily output of 12,000 cows will be used for butter and the output of 4,260 cows will be used for cheese.

At present enrollees who have received their training in actual work at the camps and in short, intensive courses at corps area schools for bakers and cooks perform all culinary duties.

Originally virtually all of the cooks for the CCC were enlisted men of the regular army who were graduates of the services bakers' and cooks' schools.

PIONEER IN AGRICULTURE

The agricultural interests of Ohio owe much to the efforts of J. H. Kliphart, born in Stark county in 1823, whose work was mostly pioneering and who worked under the handicap of lack of education in the sciences underlying agriculture. Kliphart was over the secretary of the state board of agriculture for a number of years following 1865.

To his annual reports he added essays on agricultural subjects which involved a vast amount of experiment and research. Pointing out the close relationship between agriculture and geology he was made an assistant in the Ohio state geological survey. He made the first plans for restocking the lakes and streams of the state with fish.

Huge Hawk with 4½ Foot Wing Spread Is Killed

A three-pound chicken hawk with a wingspread of 53 inches was shot and killed this week by Harold Thomas on his farm about eight miles east of Marion on Edison pike. Mr. Thomas is employed in the office of the county engineer.

The hawk, approaching the size of an eagle and strong enough to carry off a new born lamb or other small animals was shot Tuesday night after it had swooped down over the barnyard frightening the chickens, Mr. Thomas said. Mr. Thomas watched it light in a tree several hundred yards away. He obtained his 22 calibre rifle and creeping through a corn field to within 435 feet of the bird, killed it with a single shot.

The hawk had been seen this spring chasing a squirrel around a tree but escaped Mr. Thomas' bullets. Mr. Thomas does not plan to mount it.

THEATER AD BOOERS SPUR THEIR DRIVE

Want To Make Movie-Goers "Boo Conscious"; Claim Arkansas Victory.

By The Associated Press

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., Aug. 5—Encouraged by their own sound effects, members of the Society for the Booing of Commercial Advertisements in Motion Picture Theaters pressed today a campaign to make movie-goers "boo conscious."

Approximately 30 members of the society, over half of them women greeted in lusty chorus last night all commercial advertisements shown on the screen at Little Rock's largest theater.

Ignored by the booers were two policemen on guard at the rear of the theater, house lights that glared suddenly at the first chorus of "boos," and amused stares from other patrons.

Secretary M. C. Blackman claimed a victory.

"The theater obviously curtailed its commercial advertising feature," he commented, claiming several familiar sequences were missing from the routine.

"We shall continue our campaign until the theaters do one of two things: give a reasonable rebate to patrons as payment for enforced attention to the commercial advertisements or eliminate the commercial entirely."

Theater Manager Ralph Noble left before the booing started, and refused to discuss the situation. He handed out a prepared statement saying "I am inclined to think this is Mr. Blackman's party."

Chief of Police James A. Pitcock warned against rough-house" tactics and added: "But there's no law against booing."

COMMISSIONERS' PAY BOOST IS EFFECTIVE

Marion County Board Members Affected at End of Present Term.

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., Aug. 5—A law granting increased salaries to county commissioners became effective today but practical effects of the recent legislative action will be postponed until January, 1939.

A ruling by Attorney General Herbert S. Duffy said that a public official's salary can not be increased during his term.

The first raise for the commissioners since 1911 will bring salaries from a minimum of $600 to $1,200 and the maximum from $4,025 to $5,000.

The exception is Cuyahoga county where the salary will be $6,000 the same as that of the county auditor.

Another law effective today forbids the setting up of educational requirements in giving civil service examinations "except in respect to professional and other positions for which such requirements are expressly imposed by statute and to the extent of the requirements so imposed."

Two other new statutes: Increase from $100 to $200 the maximum possible fee paid to attorneys whom a court assigns to man slaughter cases; and gives the teachers' retirement system the right to invest in certain types of notes and bonds (bonds with principal and interest guaranteed by the United States, federal farm loan act bonds, conservancy and sanitary district bonds, and mortgage notes insured by the federal housing administration).

Pay Here Goes Up to $2,250

Marion county commissioners will receive pay boosts from the present $1,345 to $2,250 a year beginning with their next terms under the new law effective throughout the state. The increases were granted on the contention of the Ohio Association of County Commissioners that their duties had increased and that salaries had not been boosted proportionately.

Commissioners Leo L. Cusick and J. O. Weiss or their successors will not benefit by the increase until Jan. 1, 1941, while O. C. McCurdy, whose term expires earlier, or his successor will receive the increase beginning Jan. 1, 1939. If vacancies occur in the present board before terms end, the temporary commissioner will receive the new pay.

NO REPRISAL REMARK SETS TONGUES GOING

Farley Denies New Deal Bears Malice Toward Foes of Court Bill.

By The Associated Press

AKRON, Aug. 5—National political circles buzzed today with speculation over an administrational promise of no reprisals against opponents of the President's supreme court bill, made in Akron by National Democratic Chairman James A. Farley.

Postmaster General Farley, winding up a good will tour of Ohio for the administration, addressed a crowd here last night, estimated at 10,000 by party leaders, at which time he declared that talk of court reprisals was so much "moonshine."

He charged Republicans with circulating rumors of reprisals, asserting "the administration is concerned with bringing back and perpetuating prosperity; it has no time for vendettas."

Farley also declared that talk of an "unbridgeable gulf and an incurable rift in the Democratic party" come from Republicans and from anti-administration newspapers.

He pointed out that corporations and individuals who opposed President Roosevelt in the last election were not penalized although "it was brutal" about that in the event of Roosevelt's election those fighting him were to suffer from reprisals."

Farley attacked anti-administration newspapers again for their portrayal of congress.

"When a Democratic legislator agrees with the President he is a cowering political pean," said Farley in describing the attitude of these papers. "But when he disagrees with the President he is a white-plumed knight of patriotism engaged in a heroic crusade."

State Chairman Francis W. Poulson, speaking before Farley, declared that Ohio Democracy now has the strongest organization in its history, "thanks to efforts of Gov. Martin L. Davey."

LOYALISTS CLAIM SKIRMISH VICTORY

Say Field Strewn With Dead Moors After Clash South of Teruel.

By The Associated Press

Spanish government forces rallying to defend the Madrid-Valencia "life line" road, took defensive positions north of a highway to Carlos and announced they had won a skirmish from insurgent Moorish forces.

A government communique said hand-to-hand fighting 10 miles southwest of Teruel, base of the insurgent Aragon drive, ended with the bodies of turbaned Moors strewn over the battlefield.

In northern Spain insurgents reported gains in a decisive defeat of their enemy near Cuceo.

The insurgent gunboat Dato was reported to have sunk a small trawler of unidentified nationality as it attempted to run the blockade of government-held Santander on the Bay of Biscay.

Evacuation of Stander, reduced to serious straits by crowding and lack of food, was reported under consideration.

Valencia government officials reported efforts made to preserve Spain's art treasures, said two chests of jewelry, securities and art objects, believed lost in transfer at Barcelona, had been recovered.

The "hands off Spain" committee of nations was suddenly called together in London by its chairman, Lord Plymouth. Hope that the Soviet Union would agree to belligerent rights for insurgents in exchange for withdrawal of volunteers was dim however.

HOLDING FIRMS FACE ADDED TAX BURDEN

which he considered should be checked by legislation.

During the investigation the President's son, James, who also is one of his father's secretaries, appeared on the witness stand to deny that he ever had been connected with a foreign personal holding company, a connection which had been hinted at by Rep. Fish, Republican of New York.

Among many prominent Americans named in committee hearings as having availed themselves of tax reduction methods were William Randolph Hearst, publisher; Jacob Ruppert, New York brewer and baseball magnate; C. F. Kettering, vice-president of General Motors; Myron C. Taylor, chairman of United States Steel Corp.; the late Alfred I. duPont, Ed Wynn, the radio entertainer; Fritz Kreisler, the violinist; and Percy Crosby, cartoonist.

The committee proposed to lift the sunlaxw on domestic personal holding corporations to 65 per cent on the undistributed net income not in excess of $50,000 and 75 per cent on the amount above $50,000.

The present rates are 5 to 45 per cent.

For Minimum Rate

"No low minimum rate can be provided," the report said, "without enabling wealthy individuals to escape substantial taxes through the formation of multiple personal holding companies."

In addition the committee suggested that deductions allowed such companies be altered drastically, and some revoked entirely.

With regard to taxing undistributed net income of foreign personal holding companies as though already distributed to American owners, the committee said it was recommending "a method of taxation which is a departure from any previously used with respect to corporate income."

"The committee feels, however," the report added, "that this innovation is necessary to protect the revenue and prevent further use of one of the most glaring loopholes now existing."

Thereupon the committee proposed that tax laws should be revised to discourage dissolution of foreign personal holding firms "as promptly as possible."

The major recommendation here was that in the liquidation of any foreign personal holding firm not completed by the end of this year, 100 per cent of the gains from the liquidation should be taken into account in computing net income.

Under existing law it is possible for as little as 30 per cent of the gain to be taken into account in computing net income.

Asserting it found no justification for incorporation of yachts and country estates, the committee suggested that they be handled by revising the definition of personal holding corporations.

HAPPY RELIEF FROM PAINFUL BACKACHE

Caused by Tired Kidneys

Many of those guessing, aspiring, painful backaches people blame on colds or strains often don't suspect they're tired kidneys and may be relieved when treated in the right way.

The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking excess acids and poisonous waste out of the blood. Most people pass about 3 pints a day or about 3 pounds of waste.

If the 15 miles of kidney tubes and filters don't work well, poisonous waste matter stays in the blood. These poisons may start nagging backaches, traveling pains, headaches, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, dizziness, leg pains.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from the blood. Get Doan's Pills.

TAKE WEIGHT OFF TIRED FEET

Lose Fat The Easy Way—Without Starvation Diets, or Back-Breaking, Bending and Rolling Exercises.

If your feet and ankles feel tired and ache all over—because you are carrying too much fat—do something about it. Try the treatment that has helped millions to reduce excess weight.

There's a reason why so many people find dieting slow and often times futile in reducing. The reason, doctors say, is often because a little gland is not working right.

All the blood in your body goes through this tiny gland sixteen times every day. If it doesn't pour into the blood stream about one and one-half drops of vital fluid every 24 hours, many people take on ugly fat. This fluid helps Nature to "burn up" excess food and fatty tissue in much the same way as a good "draft" acts in a furnace.

Now, physicians combat this condition by feeding this gland the substance it lacks—and millions of pounds of excess fat has been wiped out in this way.

Marmola Prescription Tablets are based on the same method used by doctors. So don't waste your time or money striving to reduce with starvation diets or back-breaking exercises. Start the Marmola treatment today that millions have used successfully to get rid of excess fat. The formula is in every box so you know just what you are taking. Don't wait—get a box of Marmola today from your druggist.

FLAME TRAIL

BY MARIE DE NERVAND

Kay Craydon of the Star impulsively hires Ted Lee as a jobless puncher. He is her fight Josh Hastings, a "friendly" neighbor who wants to get her ranch and marry Kay. Ted and Scrap Johnson, a cowboy who molests Kay, shoot it out, wounding each other. Hastings awakes up and kills Scrap with Ted's gun. Arrested, Ted is tried for Scrap's murder, but Kay stops the trial by technical proof. Ted learns Hastings has kidnaped Kay, so he makes a daring dash for freedom and escapes the posse which is taking him back to Montana for a second trial.

CHAPTER FORTY-FOUR.
At The Ruined Smithy.

Ted dismounted at the first sagging hut and tied his horse to a sagging gate post. Then he cautiously picked his way toward the long low building that he knew must be the blacksmith shop that the two men he had overheard had referred to. He crept forward silently.

Suddenly he shrank back against the wall of the shack next to it. And his breath as he watched a dark form detach itself from the black mass of the building and take a few steps into the road after Josh Hastings left her. Kay lay on the settle, face in a frenzy of despair.

Long before her temporary physical paralysis lessened, her mind woke to painful realization of her situation, and to a fashion review of the succession of events leading up to it.

Through it all ran the main theme of hurt bewilderment at Ted's behavior. Her own personal hopes had revived involuntarily at the statement that it had been a "red-headed girl" that Ted had fought for. Tom Runyon, whether deliberately or unknowingly, had put her on the wrong trail, and it had seemed for one glorious moment that all her wild jealousy had been unfounded.

But how explain Ted's curt refusal to see her, and the scornful way in which his eyes had passed her by at the trial?

In her semi-conscious state, Kay's fears, for the moment, were dulled, but her love for Ted surged through her, overcoming for the moment her pride and resentment of his attitude toward her.

Perhaps, after all, he was in love with that girl, Marion Howell. But somehow, as he had told his story, Kay had felt that that part of it was impersonal, and that gratitude for having saved him was the keynote of Ted's feeling for the blackhaired stranger, who had so tortured her thoughts.

Her eyes, gradually growing accustomed to the darkness, peered around her prison, and a sudden terror sent her leaping to her feet. Stumbling over to the door, she beat frantically against it, crying out until her throat was hoarse and parched.

Kay took a mighty grip on her self control, and forced down her panic. She must think! Think! nothing but her wits could save her!

A memory of Josh Hastings' words that he had shouted back through the door in his parting rage flashed over her. What had he meant by saying that "he had used this place once before"? Kay shivered at the thought of the sinister, gloating tone in which he had said that. And his threat to come back! How soon would he make that good?

Kay groped her way around the cellar, feeling the damp walls, from the rough rafters overhead, to the floor.

Even though all attempt to escape was futile, anything was better than inaction. Systematically starting at one end, she examined her prison, bit by bit. The only air, apparently, came from a grating in the ceiling, which gave into a darkened room above.

Half way around the second wall, she pulled away a piece of scrap iron that seemed to be sticking out of an angle of the wall in a peculiar fashion. It was much longer than she had expected, and thrusting her hand into the hole that it left in the wall as she drew it away, her fingers encountered a smooth object that made her exclaim and draw back in sudden terror.

She steeled herself to investigate, and put her hand in again. She drew out a smooth flat object, which turned out to be a small leather notebook. It might have been a diary or address book.

Exclaiming over her discovery, Kay held it close to her eyes and opened it, but strain as she would, she could make nothing out of the pages, which might, or might not have been merely blank.

A rasping of the key in the door startled her so that her find dropped to the floor, and was temporarily forgotten as she rushed for the dim streak of light that showed for a minute, as something was thrust inside the door. Before she could reach it, the door was slammed to without a word having been said, and the key turned again. On the floor, when Kay got over to the door, she found a canteen of water and a loaf of bread.

With a strangled cry of rage, she snatched up the bread and would have flung it from her, but sober second thought stopped her.

If Josh Hastings really meant to carry out his dastard threat to starve her into submission, she needed every ounce of strength she could get. Deliberately she gulped down some of the bread with the aid of sips of water from the canteen, finishing as much as she could, then groped her way back to about where she had dropped the notebook. Feeling around on the floor, she finally found it, and slipped it in her pocket.

Then she settled down beside the old forge, leaned her head against it and determined to think her way out. But exhaustion mercifully overtook her, and she dropped into a restless sleep.

How long she slept, Kay never knew, but she was finally roused by thinking she heard footsteps overhead. A startled scream broke from her as her fevered imagination, stung to the highest pitch by the nightmares that had been torturing her sleep, pictured the bulky form of Josh Hastings about to descend on her.

In answer to her scream, the footsteps rushed across the floor above, and the next instant, she heard Ted's voice calling her name in a hoarse subdued tone.

Certain now that she was still dreaming, Kay struggled to answer, but her voice died in her throat. That was the way it was with nightmares, she thought, desperately. You always tried to call out, and couldn't.

"Kay! Kay!" Again Ted's voice called, with its hushed but peremptory note. "Where are you? Answer me!"

This time Kay's dumbness gave way to the joyful realization that she wasn't dreaming and that, incredible as it seemed, Ted was actually there.

"Here!" she called. "In the cellar. The door is locked!"

"To hell with the door!"

Another moment, and Ted was wrenching with an iron bar at the grating in the ceiling above Kay's head.

"Keep clear from below there!" he called, and Kay shrank back and waited her heart beating a wild tattoo and her breath coming fast through her parted lips.

There was a splintering sound, as the wood at last gave way, and the iron grating was torn loose. The next instant, there was a swish, as of a body slipping through the opening, and a thud on the floor.

Kay stepped blindly forward and Ted's arms closed about her.

Ted and Kay plan to get Josh Hastings as they escape from Clear Water, tomorrow.

MARYSVILLE COOL TO PRIMARY VOTE

Special to The Star

MARYSVILLE, Aug. 5.—As the August primary election looms only six days away, Marysville residents today saw the quietest political campaign in the recent history of the city go into its final stages. There are no contests for nominations and only a few of the candidates have been making any bid for support at the polls next Tuesday.

The election here is the only political event to take place in the county next Tuesday. Absent voters' ballots, usually a barometer of the probable turnout of voters, indicate the vote will be unusually light.

The tickets of both parties are filled with the exception the Democratic ticket lists no candidate for city clerk and for one city council position.

WAR GAS BAN ROOSEVELT AIM

Refuses To Dignify Army Chemical Service by Calling It a Corps.

By The Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 5—President Roosevelt declared today that poisonous gases and chemicals in warfare are inhuman and said he is determined to do all he can to discourage the use.

In support of that assertion, he refused to approve a bill to change the name of the chemical warfare service to the chemical corps." He told the senate in a veto message that in his judgment it is "contrary to sound public policy" to "dignify" the service by calling it a corps, when it is a large and permanent part of the army.)

Conducts Research

Mr. Roosevelt expressed the hope that the time will come when the chemical warfare service can be entirely abolished.

Secretary Woodring had asked congress to delete the word "warfare," explaining that he considers it "redundant" and that it tends to "create a false impression as to the primary function" of the service.

The chemical warfare service was created by congress shortly after the close of the World war. It is a research division of the war department which attempts to keep the United States abreast of other nations in the use of war chemicals.

Mr. Roosevelt added that "while, unfortunately, the defensive necessities of the United States call for study of the use of chemicals in warfare, I do not want the government of the United States to do anything to aggrandize or make permanent any special bureau of the army or the navy engaged in these studies."

Furthermore, the President said it is desirable to designate as a corps "only those branches of the army which are included in the line of the army." He added that it would have been more in keeping with the bureau's functions to name it "chemical service" rather than "chemical corps."

COUPLES BATTLE FOR "KIDNAPED" BOY

A bewildered 30-month-old boy, Donald Horst, was the object of a battle between two Chicago couples as police cleared away details of the lad's "kidnaping." John Regan and Lydia Nelson, shown here with the boy, admitted snatching him from the arms of Mrs. Otto Horst, but claimed he was their child, born out of wedlock. Mrs. Horst admitted she was not the real mother of the boy but gained possession shortly after his birth.

Marriage Meddlers

BY ADELE GARRISON

Lil Tells Young People Why the Gangsters Left So Quickly.

"I DON'T believe it," Lillian said flatly when I declared myself all right, asking her to tell the young people the real meaning of the things which had happened.

"You mustn't have anybody talk if it's going to hurt you, Auntie Madge," Marion said, with the reminder of her mother's reproof upon her. Carolyn and the boys echoed her protest, but their eager, curious faces belied their words, and I steeled myself for the effort to keep up.

"Don't be foolish!" I admonished Lillian. "I'm perfectly all right, really. And do tell these children the truth before they burst with curiosity."

"It won't take long," Lillian said, capitulating. "And, as Auntie Madge is the heroine of the affair, I'll spare her blushes and tell the story myself."

"Please!" I said, but my protest went unheeded, Lillian went steadily on with her story, and the four young people hung closely upon her words.

"In the first place," Lillian said, "those lads that cut in on you last were gangsters—gunmen."

"Didn't I tell you?" Carolyn said excitedly. "Pats! Hank! Bill! What did I tell you? Wasn't they ran out that way, that's what I thought of first. It was just like a movie. Oh, boy! what a story to tell the girls at school!"

"I'm afraid that's one pleasure you'll have to forego, Carolyn," Mr. Underwood interposed, and I was glad that it was he, not Lillian, who had spoken. For Carolyn, like many other girls of her age, plainly thinks the dictum or advice of an older woman is archaic, but gives wholesome heed to the stern decree of an older man, especially that of a man of the world, such as she patently considers Marion's stepfather.

"This is a more serious thing than you think," he said. "It is nothing of which to boast to your comrades, but one for you to remember with fear and trembling, and the determination never to let yourself in for anything of the sort again. Do you know why I told Hank and Bill not to cut in on those men, and couldn't have done so myself, no matter what happened, without risking the lives of all of us, you included?"

Men Were Armed

"No, tell us," Carolyn answered, suddenly sobered. "I was wondering why you didn't cut in, for those boys were simply—beasts. The orchestra men were ally, but these—"

"Because those men were all armed, and the young ones looked as if they were full of dope. If they had deemed themselves insulted, they would have let fly with those guns regardless of consequences."

There was horror in the eyes of both girls and boys now, and it was Hank who voiced the question which unmistakably was in the minds of all.

"But what made them get out so quickly? One second Bill and I thought we couldn't stand it one longer, the girls were getting all scared-looking, and the next, a low, queer whistle sounded twice from their table, and those birds almost knocked the girls down getting away."

"They didn't even say, 'Excuse me', or anything," Carolyn amended, wide-eyed. "Just dropped us like hot cakes."

Tells Madge's Part

"That was because of the quick wit and the bravery of Auntie Madge," Mr. Underwood said. "Split 'em the dope, Lil."

Lillian promptly swung into the story of my ruse to circumvent the gangsters, the warning of federal men in the offing, purporting to be from an unknown friend, which I had written, and then, with much unnecessary embellishment, to my mind, told of my tossing the note through the window and of the brutal blow and fall which I had suffered.

I had not told her of my pretense at intoxication, so, mercifully, she could not include that in her saga, but when the four young people after finishing their dinner, had been sent out to the dancing floor for one last dance before we should leave the hall, Mr. Underwood leaned across the table with a twinkle in his eye.

"Come clean, Lady Fair," he said. "Tell us the real story of how you put it across."

Favored teams in the Industrial softball league stepped out last night to annex victories in games which had previously been postponed or which finished in extra-inning deadlocks. The Keytown Camp and Marion Steam Shovel entries continued their rivalry for first place, both turning in decisive victories last night, while Huber by its win remained as the only other serious threat for the pennant.

The Keytown Campers walloped Fairfield, 8 to 2, in a game which had previously gone to an eight-inning, 4 to 4, deadlock when it was halted by darkness. Other contests last night had been postponed. M. S. S. won over Excavator, 6 to 2, and the Huber aggregation drubbed the Osgood entry, 15 to 2. Two league teams, the Omar Baking and Defiance Pressed Steel entries, were idle last night.

Aside from postponed contests only three rounds of regular competition remain on the Industrial loop schedule. At present the Keytown Campers and Shovel clubs are tied for league leadership, both having won nine of 10 starts. The Shovel club has a tied game to play off with Defiance and Huber and the Keytowners have a similar contest to finish. One other postponed game bringing together Defiance and Excavator has not yet been played.

Tonight six members of the eight team league will see action in regularly scheduled games. One of this week's game, Huber's clash with the M. S. S. aggregation, has been set for Friday night at Lincoln park. The affair will be the first of a series of stadium benefit games being planned by members of the softball commission. It will be played at 6:15 o'clock tomorrow night.

WINS FIRST GAME, 12-0, DROPS SECOND BY 8 TO 4 SCORE

Geyganites Remain in Second Place, Six Games Out of Top Spot.

By CHARLES HOSTETTER

After playing heads-up baseball to take the first game 12 to 0, Marion's Ohio State league club slipped considerably in dropping the nightcap 8 to 4, in a twin-bill program with the Tiffin Mud Hens at Lincoln park yesterday afternoon.

The games were the only contests played in the circuit yesterday and by splitting the double-header both Marion and Tiffin remained in the respective positions occupied before Geygan's charges.

Giving excellent support to the seven-hit pitching of Johnny Brich, the Geyganites experienced little difficulty in the opener. Marion collected 12 runs off eight hits, scoring in the first five consecutive innings while they blanked the Hens from start to finish. The Hens seven hits off Brich came singly except for a pair in the third inning.

Balls Attempt Halted

Two fast double plays by Marion's infield stopped scoring possibilities for Tiffin in the first and fifth innings. In the third when the Hens had runners on second and third by virtue of a single and double,

SNATCHES OF SPORTS

BY EDDIE BRIETZ

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, Aug. 5—So Mike Jacobs moves into the Garden? Well, there wasn't much else for the Garden directors to do. The big money in fighting is in the heavyweights and Mike has almost all the good ones in his pocket—Louis, Braddock, Schmeling, etc. The deal makes Jacobs absolute czar of the cauliflower ear industry. Everyone is wondering what will happen to Jimmy Johnston for years maestro at the Garden. This corner predicts an early tie up between Jimmy and Jacobs which would be highly advantageous to all concerned.

Is it against the rules for the Yanks to hit a single any more? Out in Chicago all they talk about is a World's Series between the Cubs and Yanks. What's this, the Dodgers have a big trade cooking? Properly handled, there is a bright future ahead of Sandy McDonald, the Dallas, Tex., heavyweight, who goes against Eddie Hogan in the Garden tonight. Anybody wanting to lease a couple of ball parks should see Mike Jacobs. He has 'em and doesn't need 'em, what with just acquiring the Garden bowl.

Maybe you have often wondered what a ball player says to an umpire just before a run-in. We can tell you what one said. Down at Richmond, Va., the other day a sandlotter told his ribs "I've been

TAPPING RUBBER TREES ON FIRESTONE PLANTATIONS IN LIBERIA
From these plantations comes an ever increasing supply of the world's finest rubber. Ingenuity in producing raw materials, manufacturing and distribution make it possible for Firestone to give you so much for your money

Why Firestone STANDARD TIRES are EXTRA SAFE

YOU GET EXTRA PROTECTION AGAINST BLOWOUTS—eight extra pounds of rubber are added to every 100 pounds of cord by the Firestone patented Gum-Dipping process. By this process every fiber in every cord in every ply is saturated with liquid rubber. This counteracts dangerous internal friction and heat that ordinarily cause blowouts.

YOU GET EXTRA PROTECTION AGAINST PUNCTURES—because under the tread are two extra layers of Gum-Dipped cords.

YOU GET EXTRA PROTECTION AGAINST SKIDDING—because the tread is scientifically designed.

YOU GET LONGER NON-SKID MILEAGE because of the extra tough, long-wearing tread.

Firestone Standard Tires give you all these extra value features because they are first-quality tires built with high-grade materials and patented construction features. You SAVE MONEY because you buy this high quality and extra value at such low prices.

Mike Jacobs Leases Garden, Becomes New Dictator of Pugilistic World

By DREW MIDDLETON

NEW YORK, Aug. 5—The vested [illegible] of the cauliflower industry today from the strip of Madison Square Garden which had known since the reign of Tex Rickard as Mike Jacobs, the man who [illegible] a Brown Bomber and [illegible] into the dictatorship of [illegible] game.

Jacobs is leasing for two years Madison Square Garden and its outdoor baseball ring bowl in Long Island City named Rickard's old post as the sport game's No. 1 promoter. [illegible] indoor boxing shows for [illegible] this winter and next summer, outdoor fights at the bowl in [illegible] and 1939.

Jacobs, a ticket-broker, learned the [illegible] business methods of the sport game as Rickard's partner in the halcyon days of the million dollar gates and the 600 million dollar [illegible]. When Rickard died Jacobs went back to a booming ticket business and others tried to fill Rickard's shoes.

One of them was Jimmy Johnston, who, as matchmaker for the Garden, is now a man without a job. Many believe Johnston, an astute promoter in his own right, will join Jacobs. He joined Mike once before in promoting Joe Louis' first indoor appearance in New York, a bout with Pauline Uzcudun.

The shift in power from the Garden to Jacobs shows once more that the man who controls the heavyweight title, by far the richest in the industry, controls big time boxing. Jacobs picked up Louis when the Bomber was almost unknown and brought him east for his first big fight against Primo Carnera. Since then he has sent the champion against Baer, Schmeling, Braddock and others. With the exception of the Schmeling bout, Mike's mealticket has been a winner. Always Louis has made money.

Colonel John Reed Kilpatrick, president of Madison Square Garden corporation, gave business as the reason for the leasing of the Garden. "It means more money for us," said the colonel. The Garden will collect "a definite rental fee" and a percentage of the fights promoted at the Eighth avenue arena.

GALION MAN HELD ON FORGERY CHARGE

Council President, Business Men Issue Complaint

Special to The Star

GALION, Aug. 5—Sam Baker was bound over to the Crawford county grand jury when tried in Mayor W. M. King's court this Wednesday afternoon on forgery charges.

Baker who has been in Galion for the last five weeks working as a painter, was arrested by local police early Wednesday morning on a forgery charge upon the complaint of Otto Pfeifer, Galion council president and local business man. Baker had issued a check for $7.50 Saturday without funds. The check was cashed by Pfeifer.

Police, also report that Baker hired a local taxi driver, Jack Trapp, to drive him to Ontario, Mansfield, Columbus, then back to Mansfield, Bucyrus, Crestline, and Galion and didn't pay the taxi driver. At Ontario where Baker had previously issued three or four checks to a woman, he stopped and made out one large check to cover the smaller ones, and added $15. to the amount. The $15 was paid to Baker by the woman, and Baker proceded to various night clubs.

After the taxi driver left him out here, local police found him hiding behind trees on South Union street.

WINS FIRST GAME 12-0, DROPS SECOND

the visitors were retired without a tally on a strike-out and two infield bounders.

Doubles by Manager Geygan and Rightfielder Stan Platek were Marion's only extra base hits in the first game. Ten passes to first off the pair of opposing hurlers and the six fielding errors of the Hens, helped Marion to the shutout victory. Williams started for Tiffin but wildness robbed him of the chance of taming Marion and he left the mound in the third inning to be replaced by Lupo. The latter gave up but three hits in the fourth and fifth, blanking Marion in the last three innings.

Tiffin led off early in the nightcap, getting a lone tally in the first and holding a 3 to 0 lead before Marion was able to score its initial runs in the last of the fifth. Chuck Cronin, Ace Tiffin righthander, held Marion to two hits through the first four innings, while his teammates were slapping out five off lanky Gene Morris. Although Morris didn't have perfect support in the field, he was nicked for 12 safeties, walked four batters and fanned but three.

Trailing 3 to 0 in the fifth Marion picked up a pair of runs when Catcher Mulvihill led off with a single. Morris fanned, Stiewe filed to rightfield and Eader and Platek followed with doubles to rightcenter to shove across the two runs. Swed walked and was out at second of Kauffmann's infield grounder, to end Marion's first attempt at an uprising.

Taking no chances on a Marion bombardment upsetting their lead the Hens came back to score one run in the sixth and then topped it off with four in the seventh. Two Marion errors and four hits were responsible for the seventh-inning rally of the visitors. Fighting back from the underdog position the Geygantes inaugurated a futile final frame rally that fell four runs short of tying the count.

Leftfielder Eader started the inning with a single to right-field. Platek filed out to center and Eader scored on Ted Swed's double to left-center. Kauffmann's long single to center scored Swed and the next batter, Geygan, fanned. Harris, after being walked, was forced at second by Mulvihill's bounder to the shortstop.

Today Marion's team will be idle, with the team booked to invade Fostoria tomorrow afternoon and then visit the home lot of the league leading Red Sox for a double-header Sunday afternoon.

RED SOX WIN TWO FROM INDIANS; REDS LOSE TO GIANTS, 4-3

Boston Forging Upward With Nine Straight Wins; Yanks Belt White Sox.

BY SID FEDER

Associated Press Sports Writer

That big money that Tom Yawkey threw into the Boston Red Sox is talking again.

In fact, it's shouting so loud it's making nervous wrecks of a lot of American League strong-arm squads.

How long it can continue remains to be seen, but if past performances are any indication, the Sox will keep on surging until their series next week with the New York Yankee slaughterers, who are now coasting along on an eight-game lead. Then they'll go quietly back to sleep for a time, as usual.

Until then, however, the three-million dollar investment of Yawkey's is going to keep on doing a lot of damage among the loop's stronger contenders. Headed by a cloutting comeback in second-baseman Doc McNair and a lot of flinging ability still in the aging but agile left arm of Bob Grove, the Gold Sox—last year they were the gold flops—haven't been beaten in nine starts. In their current home stand they have chalked up their longest winning streak under the Yawkey banner.

Big guns in this drive that has skyrocketed the Sox to a spot where they're flirting with second place have been four of Connie Mack's fancy-priced ex-Athletics—McNair, Jimmy Foxx and Pinky Higgins with their bats, and Grove with his baffling southpaw slants.

McNair has been belting the ball for a .405 average in the present drive. Foxx and Higgins are moving along at .352 and .339, respectively. The three of them have driven in 29 runs in the surge. Grove is breezing along on a personal three-game winning streak.

At present they're working on the Indians. They made it three straight over the Tribe yesterday with a doubleheader win, 5-6 and 6-5, as Foxx belted homers Nos 27 and 28.

This twin win left them just a game back of the second-place White Sox, who learned first-hand again from the homer specialists, the Yanks, that there's no comeback for a circuit clout. Bill Dickey belted one with the bases loaded and Lou Gehrig hammered his 33rd before a single by Jake Powell in the ninth broke up the game and gave the Yanks a 10-9 win, their third straight over the slipping Sox.

The Giants cut their National League deficit to six games back of the Cubs by nosing out the Reds, 4-3. The Cubs lost a 2-1 heartbreaker to Lefty LaMaster and the Phillies.

The Dodgers pummeled the Pirates, 10-1. The Cardinals put on a ninth-inning five-run rally to top the Reds, 7-6. The Tigers walloped the Athletics, 11-7, and the Browns beat the Senators, 5-3.

By The Associated Press

BOSTON, Aug. 5—The Cleveland Indians eyed with relief the prospect of escaping from Boston after today's finale of the four-game series.

Loose defensive play helped the Tribe drop both games of yesterday's twin bill and put the problem of salvaging one game of the series up to pitcher Willis Hudlin, sore leg or no. The scores were 5-6 and 6-5.

The Indians won only one game out of three at both Philadelphia and Washington and have dropped their first three here, so the prospect of invading New York tomorrow was no more forbidding than their other eastern appearances.

PROMOTORIAL POLITICS
TITLE SHOT
MAX
THE ROAD BACK
SCHMELING BE FROZEN OUT OF HIS PROMISED TITLE SHOT—OR ARE LOUIS' ADVISERS MAKING THE CHAMP WAIT HOPING HE'LL BE TOO OLD TO BE DANGEROUS BY NEXT SUMMER?

MAX SCHMELING, who thought he had gained his second shot at the heavy title last summer when he belted out Joe Louis, may have to cool his heels for another year or more before getting his long-awaited title bout.

The man Max flattened more than a year ago, Joe Louis, now holds the heavyweight crown which Max believes is rightfully his Schmeling, aware that he might be frozen out of a title crack this year, tried to arrange a bout with Tommy Farr in England, but the crafty Mike Jacobs corralled Farr as an August victim for Louis, and Max was left holding the well-known burlap.

The Louis board of strategy has a reason for keeping Schmeling waiting. They know that the Teuton is no youth, and each passing date adds to the growing burden of age and ring rust he must carry when and if—he finally greets the Brown Bomber again.

It is even possible that Max will never get his promised title shot. Old Harry Wills was the logical contender for Dempsey's crown, and he waited eight years for a title go, all in vain.

COLUMBUS REGAINS ASSOCIATION LEAD BY BEATING MILLERS

Red Birds' Slugging Twins Set Pace for 5-0 Victory Over Minneapolis.

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO, Aug. 5—Minneapolis fans probably won't forget in a hurry their last look this season at Columbus' slugging twins, Enos Slaughter and John Rizzo.

Enos and John celebrated their final appearance of the campaign in the Millers' park yesterday by crashing out four hits apiece, the big blasts in a 5 to 0 victory which put the Red Birds back on top in the American Association. Slaughter belted out a home run, triple and a pair of singles, while Rizzo collected a triple and three one-baggers.

The victory gave the Birds a half-game edge over the Millers in the first-place battle, as they moved on to Kansas City today to open their semifinal series of the last western invasion of the year.

Toledo, the third member of the scramble for the leadership, lost ground by bowing to St. Paul, 5 to 2, in their final game of the series. Little Bobby Coombs, young right-hander recently acquired from Birmingham of the Southern Association, gave the Mud Hens nine hits but kept them so well apart that he was in real trouble only in the eighth inning when both of the hens' runs were scored.

Although outhit, 12 to 7, Louisville's Colonels defeated Kansas City, 4 to 3, in a night game, the only other contest of the schedule. The Colonels punched over a run in the ninth to win after the Blues had tied the score with a two-run rally in the eighth.

Indianapolis and Milwaukee played their scheduled game at an earlier date.

SCHOOL BATTLE TO FLARE ANEW

Nine Districts in Hardin County Vision Fight Over Election of New Boards.

Special to The Star

KENTON, Aug 5—Differences of opinion that were never expressed, and hurts that have rankled since the redistricting of schools was completed a year ago will break into the open this fall when each of the nine school districts of the Hardin county public school system elect entire new boards of education

In the Hardin central district comprised of parts of six township rural school districts surrounding Kenton, there has been waged a word war embracing the redistricting process the proposal to erect a school building of its own with proceeds of a $150,000 bond issue to be voted upon this fall and the suggestion that the district join with the Kenton Union school district and the merged district with a tax valuation of nearly $13,000,000 erect a new high school building in Kenton

Other districts have similar problems some involving new school buildings or additions constructed as WPA and PWA projects

Educators pointed out that dissolution of old school districts and the creation of new ones resulted in the appointment of new boards of education eligible to serve only until new boards may be elected by electors of the district Some elected will be seeking election for the two-year term and others will be candidates for a four year term

New boards of education must be elected in Hardin Central Forest Jackson Mt Victory-Dudley Ridge-Ray-Taylor Creek Pound head-McDonald McGuffey McDonald Alger Roundhead, Washington Cessna and Blanchard Pleasant districts

DIONNE ANGERED BY DAFOE'S STATEMENT

Claims Doctor Hints Emilie Caught Sore Throat from Parents.

By the Associated Press

CALLANDER Ont, Aug 5—(Canadian Press)—Papa Oliva Dionne got his dander up today about quintuplet Emilie's sore throat

He said he read Dr Allan Roy Dafoe's statement that Emilie caught her cold from an "outsider" and made up his mind that Dr Dafoe was blaming us because our little girl was sick

Besides, the quintuplet father complained "we didn't even know one had a cold" until some of those tourists told us Monday

Dr Dafoe answered that he didn't mean it that way Although he said he was certain the infection came from someone outside the nursery, he added that I certain, didn't say one of the Dionne family

Papa Dionne who lives with his wife and six other children just across the road from the nursery explained that he and Mrs Dionne hadn't visited the quintuplets for more than a week before Emilie caught cold Furthermore he said none of his family had been sick

The father said that when he heard only four of the quints were being shown Monday, he hurried to the nursery

A nurse told me Emilie was sick with a sore throat and had a little fever Jeanne said I saw her through a screen"

It stood to reason the father explained, that strangers who might be disease carriers brought Emilie her cold on one of the tourist excursions to the quintuplets' nursery

Also Dionne said he found out once that Yvonne had mumps and he wasn't told about it

That isn't true, Dr Dafoe replied

Unaware of the squabble Emilie was able to sit on the veranda today Dr Dafoe said her temperature was back to normal and that she was getting along well

VANDERBILT HEADS FOR FINAL VICTORY

on today a 20 mile triangular course at 12 mph to lead Sopwith's Endeavour II by more than half a mile and set a new record for a 10 mile windward leg

No one was willing to wager a Chinese copper But T O M Sopwith's blue sloop still take the four straight victory now necessary to win

Even those who think Sopwith might win today confessed their belief was predicated more upon sympathy with the gallant Englishman than upon faith in Endeavour's ability to outfoot the fleet Ranger over the 30 mile triangular course

Endeavour II's performance in yesterday's third race lost by 4 minutes, 27 seconds was a distinct improvement over the 17 and 15 minute trouncings in the first two sailing duels but not sufficient to raise British hopes or whet the appetites of the betting gentry

Even Sopwith virtually conceded as hopeless his second quest of the elusive trophy saying simply Ranger is a faster boat Vanderbilt attributed Endeavour II's better showing to the fact that the race was sailed in a stronger breeze than were the two previous contests

The race was bound to be closer with more breeze he said then revealed Ranger had not yet felt compelled to draw upon her extensive wardrobe and was continuing to use a hand me down mainsail from the sail locker of Enterprise, his 1934 defender which sent the last of the five Lipton shamrocks home empty handed

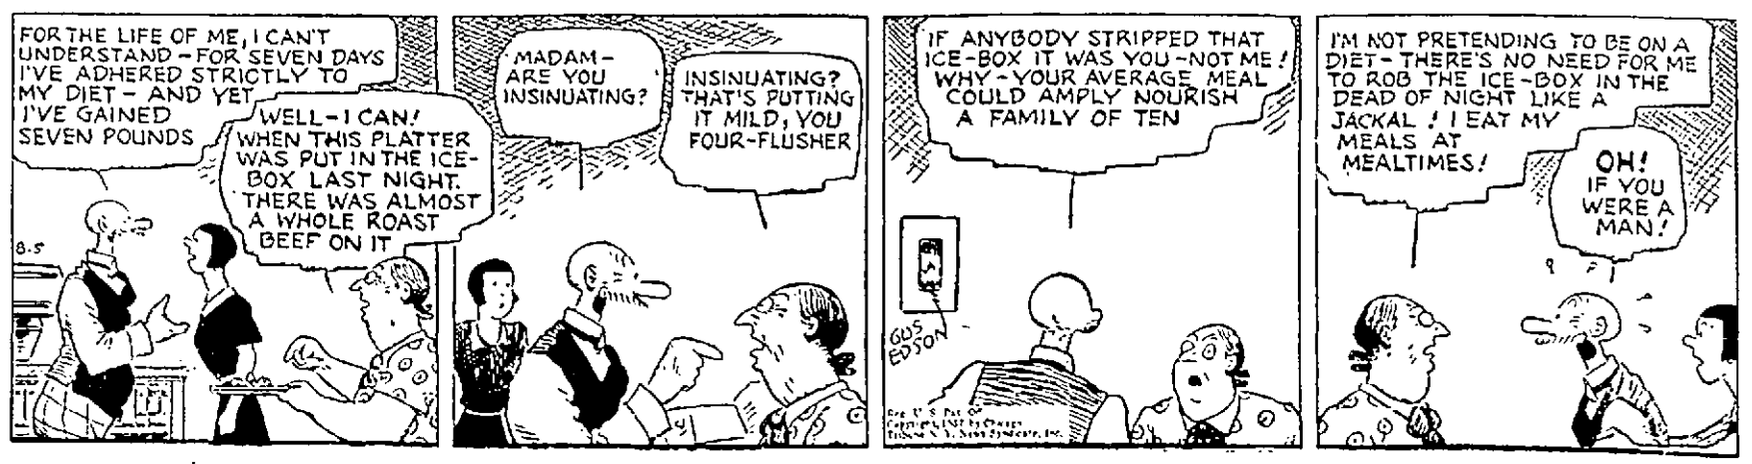
The Gumps — By Gus Edson



FOR THE LIFE OF ME, I CAN'T UNDERSTAND—FOR SEVEN DAYS I'VE ADHERED STRICTLY TO MY DIET—AND YET I'VE GAINED SEVEN POUNDS
WELL—I CAN! WHEN THIS PLATTER WAS PUT IN THE ICE-BOX LAST NIGHT, THERE WAS ALMOST A WHOLE ROAST BEEF ON IT
MADAM—ARE YOU INSINUATING?
INSINUATING? THAT'S PUTTING IT MILD, YOU FOUR-FLUSHER
IF ANYBODY STRIPPED THAT ICE-BOX IT WAS YOU—NOT ME! WHY—YOUR AVERAGE MEAL COULD AMPLY NOURISH A FAMILY OF TEN

MARKET DULL; PRICES MIXED

Few Specialties Show Signs of Life but Rest of List in Doldrums

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK Aug 5—Except for a few scattered gains the stock market was lacking in today's dealings.

Activity was below that of the preceding session and prices were well churned near the fourth hour.

Rails were fairly responsive on word of the wage settlement with non-operating unions but most stocks faced about in a narrow trading range after a moderate upturn at the opening.

Secondary railroad bonds led forward. Commodity prices edged upward. Home in Chicago brought a new top since 1925.

While the ratio of earnings to assets continued impressive on comparison these were coldly ignored in the economic pessimism and bear sentiment was seen in considering regarding bills that may be rushed through congress before adjournment.

Sliding trade dollars exhibited by steels and those were easily the only firm commitments.

Inclined to move toward the green spots of the session were Consolidated Edison North American American Smelting American Metal Montgomery Ward Texas Gulf Sulphur Standard Oil of New Jersey Square Garden.

The going was difficult for U S Steel Bethlehem General Motors Chrysler Otis Elevator Kennecott Western Union Goodyear U S Rubber and New York Central.

American Telephone slipped following its quarterly gains in earnings in July were under the increase in the same month last year.

General Motors following the lead of Ford announced a 10 per cent reduction in prices of some of its models. Observers thought this action the opening wedge for reductions by other automobiles would offset any advance in company expenses.
